Sixty-Five Dead Have Been Counted, According to Word Reaching San Francisco

FIRE BREAKS OUT IN RUINS

Collapse Gibraltar Dam Near City Unloosed Torrent of Water, Adding to Panic

SANTA BARBARA ISOLATED

Leading Hotels Crumble and Business Blocks Are in Ruins—First Tremor 6:45 A. M.

(By United Press)

San Francisco, Calif., June 29—Sixty-five dead have been counted in Santa Barbara's earthquake disaster, according to word reaching Southern Pacific officers here.

Fire had broken out in several sections of the city and is spreading rapidly. Water mains were wrecked and firemen have limited facilities with which to battle the flames.

The Southern Pacific has concentrated all available tank cars, five of them filled with water, and they are being rushed to the stricken city.

The quake reduced sections of Santa Barbara to ruins, according to information. Buildings were demolished, pavements uprooted, and the collapse of the Gibraltar dam near the city unloosed a torrent of water, which flooded the city, adding to the panic and suffering.

Santa Barbara and the surrounding cities were isolated, with rail and wire communications paralyzed. Special trains have been rushed from Los Angeles and San Francisco with Red Cross and other relief.

The quake was general throughout Southern California, but apparently centered at Santa Barbara where the most damage was done and loss of lives was greatest.

Leading hotels crumbled to pieces and business blocks were in ruins. The first tremble was felt over a large area at 6:45 a. m., this morning. At Santa Barbara and other cities tremors shook the area at intervals of twenty minutes. Another tremble less violent shook Santa Barbara at 8:30 a. m., spreading further terror among inhabitants.

Buildings were demolished at Monte cito, millionaire resort, Golita, Naples and other cities adjacent to Santa Barbara. The Southern Pacific Station at Santa Barbara was split in two and tracks for miles thrown out of line.

Airplanes and special trains were hastily dispatched to the stricken area with relief, when reports of the disaster first filtered through.

There are a number of tall buildings in Santa Barbara's business section and it is left that a number of persons lost their lives when they collapsed. State street, leading thoroughfare, was completely undermined, and its shops, some of the finest in Southern California, are in ruins.

Buildings were partially demolished at Gaviota, near Santa Barbara without loss of life.

The railroad station at Golita, near Santa Barbara, collapsed and all wires leading into the town were down.

MILROY MAN IS SENTENCED

Walter Mansfield Convicted at Greensburg for Intoxication

William Mansfield of Milroy, who was arrested one day last week in Greensburg on a charge of intoxication, has been taken to the penal farm to begin serving his sentence of 60 days. He was fined in that city, $25 and cost, and being unable to pay, was committed to the state farm.

He was arrested with his twin brother, Walter Mansfield, but no charge was preferred against him as officers stated he was not intoxicated. The men were jailed for causing a disturbance in a Greensburg hotel. It is the first instance of this kind in this vicinity in which a penal farm sentence was resulted on an intoxication charge, and which was the prime motive of the statute for increasing the penalties.

Refugees Confirm Report of Disaster

(By United Press)

Ventura, Calif., June 29—Refugees from Santa Barbara arrived here shortly before noon and confirmed reports of the disastrous earthquake at Santa Barbara, which has taken an estimated toll of twenty to thirty lives and reduced the city to virtual ruins.

At least half of the business pieces and down town Santa Barbara were partially or completely demolished, E. B. Hollister, an eye witness, told the United Press.

The county hospital, two miles from the city, was partially demolished, several nurses being slightly hurt, by the falling debris, but the patients were removed safely.

St. Vincent's Orphanage was partly wrecked, the walls cracked and the roof sliding partly off. The nurses removed one hundred and fifty children to a hillside nearby.

Sylvia Headlee, Gowdy Garage Owner, Charged With Conspiracy and Receiving Stolen Goods

GIVES $2,500 BOND ON EACH

Finley Nelson and Clyde Willis of Carthage, Both Sentenced, Implicated Gowdy Man

Sylvia Headlee, garage owner of Gowdy, has been arrested and placed under $5,000 bond in the Rush circuit court, being implicated by state police as a member of the automobile thieving gang, three other alleged members of which have been sentenced in other courts.

Headlee is charged here with conspiracy to commit a felony, following a search at his garage which is said to have revealed a Ford coupe belonging to Thomas Saunders of this city, which was stolen from the business district of Rushville last February.

In this affidavit for conspiracy, are named Finley Nelson and Clyde Willis, both of Carthage, who are said to have confessed, and implicated Headlee. These two were arrested last week by state policemen Sam Young and Paul Shinn, and removed directly from Carthage to Vincennes.

They made the confession at Vincennes, it is said, and were sentenced to serve terms in prison, and are now serving their terms. The fourth member implicated is Harry Headlee of Shelbyville, who has pleaded guilty and was sentenced Saturday afternoon from Shelbyville.

He was arrested at Vincennes, it is said, attempting to sell a stolen car that was taken from Howard Meyers of Shelbyville. This car had the motor number changed, and it was upon this charge of defacement of serial numbers, that he pleaded guilty, and was sentenced from two Continued on Page Five

Two machines were in collision Saturday afternoon at Fifth and Main streets, when cars driven by Mrs. Charles Palmer of this city, and Watt Siders, living north of Rushville, were slightly damaged. The Palmer machine was the most seriously damaged. She was driving into Main off of Fifth street, and is said to have become confused with other machines on the streets. No one was injured.

WEEK END ACTIVITY ADDS 121 MEMBERS

Novices From Many Cities Make Weary Pilgrimage to Sacred Shrine of Nahor in Rushville

OVER 400 MEMBERS PRESENT

Many Favorable Comments on Appearance of Staff and Decorations of I. O. O. F. Hall

One hundred twenty-one novices made the weary pilgrimage to the sacred shrine at Nahor during the week-end activities of the Pilgrims of Nahor at the Odd Fellow Temple. Twenty were initiated at the special meeting Friday evening and one hundred one at the state gathering Saturday night.

Over four hundred members from all parts of the state were present and participated in the ceremonies that lasted until nearly midnight.

Many favorable comments were made on the appearance of the staff and the decoration of the hall and the hundred novitiates pledged themselves to bring others to the shrine at the next pilgrimage.

A class of twelve received the decoration of the Knights of L'Emon, while only two were inducted into the Nimrods—a more exclusive classification.

The collection taken, which is one of the features of the work, was devoted toward equipping the new dining room at the Odd Fellows Home at Greensburg with dishes, and a liberal response was made to the plea.

3 TAKE TEST FOR SCHOOL POSITION

Special Examination for County Attendance Officer, Regular Time Being in Spring

TWO TOOK THE TEST THEN

Intimated That Mrs. Lavearne Farthing May Resign—One Other Applicant Eligible

Mrs. Lavearne Farthing, county attendance officer, is preparing to resign from the office, it was intimated today, and for this reason a special examination was held Saturday in the court house, when three persons took the test.

It was not known in advance that a special examination would be held, as a test was given in May for applicants and at that time it was said no other opportunity would be offered for the test. At that time two persons took the test, it was stated.

The three Saturday who appeared were Roy Ward, Bert Hungerford and Morton Conner. All three aspirants for the place are said to be democrats. The appointment is usually recommended by the county superintendent of schools, but must be affirmed by the county board of education, including the twelve township trustees, and a representative of the city school board.

Although no official statement has been issued that Mrs. Farthing is going to quit, yet it is indicated because a special examination was called, and it would not have been necessary for an examination at this time, unless an emergency was going to exit.

The usual appointment of an attendance officer is made at the first meeting in August of the county board. Because of the fact that the Rushville city schools are interested in the appointment, one member of the city school board represents the board at the meeting. Continued on Page Five

COURT CLOSES FOR SUMMER VACATION

Hearing on Claim Against American Paper Products Co., Carried Over to September

DIVORCE COMPLAINT FILED

Mary Rhodes Demands Legal Separation from Husband—Fleehart Divorce Decision

Circuit court, ended today for summer vacation and will convene again the first Monday in September, and a case involving a claim by the Lagerloef Trading Company against the American Paper Products Company of Carthage, set for this morning, was carried over until September 14.

Among the new business filed today, is a complaint for divorce, filed by Mary Katherine Rhodes against Floyd G. Rhodes, in which she sets out that they were married July 19, 1924 and separated February 10, 1925. In her complaint she charged that her husband had failed to provide a home since their marriage, that he refused to buy her clothing, and when she was seriously ill, had failed to employ a physician. They resided in Center township, with his father, according to the complaint. She also seeks to have her former name of Mary Katherine Cahoe restored.

Michael Kney has filed an action against Edward G. Carr and Emma K. Carr, the suit being to collect $3,500 on a note and to set aside a conveyance to real estate.

John D. McGee, special judge in the divorce suit of Carrie Fleehart against Fred Fleehart, has heard the evidence in the case, and ordered a decree issued to the plaintiff. He also in the decree, enjoins the plaintiff from remarrying for a period of two years.

The complaint for damages, filed recently by Jefferson Davis of Decatur county against Walter R. Thomas, mayor of Rushville, will be tried in some other court, following the motion asking for a change of venue, filed by the plaintiff. The case was the result on an automobile accident south of Rushville recently, in which the defendant alleged he suffered injuries when the horse and buggy in which he was riding, was struck by a truck owned by Mr. Thomas.

Issues in three divorce suits pending for trial were entered before court adjourned. In the action of D. C. Brooks against Dortha Brooks, the plaintiff was ordered to pay $25 a week support and $200 for her attorney fees.

In the suit of Roxie Gray against Wendell P. Gray, the court has ordered the defendant to pay $5 a week support and $15 for her attorney fees.

DRIVER OF AUTO IS CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

Herbert Niebergall of Indianapolis Arrested After Running Into I. & C. Car

CAR PUT OUT OF COMMISSION

An Indianapolis and Cincinnati Co. interurban car is "laid up" in the barns here today for repairs as the result of an accident at Southeastern Ave. and Emerson Ave., in Indianapolis Saturday, when Herbert Niebergall of Indianapolis drove his automobile into the side of the traction car.

He and Mrs. Pearl Marsh, also of Indianapolis, were seriously injured and narrowly escaped death from burns. The auto was knocked 100 feet and caught fire after the gasoline tank exploded.

Niebergall was charged with assault and battery, according to Indianapolis dispatches today, after witnesses exonerated Charles Palmer of this city, the motorman.

The machine struck the interurban car just back of the front trucks and broke and bent the air compressor and resistance coils, which are valuable apparatus used in operating the car.

AWNING DESTROYED BY FIRE

Loss Suffered at Quality Bake Shop Saturday Evening

An awning, recently installed at a cost of $65 in front of the Quality Bake Shop in the Kramer building, 220 North Morgan street, was destroyed by fire Saturday night shortly before ten o'clock. The loss was protected with insurance, according to Winfield Stephens, owner of the bakery.

The awning was water soaked from the rainfall but burned regardless. Firemen attributed the blaze as due to defective wiring entering the building at that point, but Mr. Stephens stated that one of the clerks in the bakery saw a passerby flip a cigarette in the air a short time before the blaze, and it probably landed underneath the awning protected from the rain. The fire trucks responded to a telephone call, but the canvas was practically destroyed.

UNION SERVICES OPEN NEXT SUNDAY

CHURCH SERVICES SUNDAY

Program Marks Close of Vacation Bible School—21 Additions to Christian Church

Sunday evening union meetings of Rushville churches will begin the first Sunday in July, next. Sunday, and will be held at the coliseum in Memorial park, with the exception of Sunday evening, July 12, when services will be at the First Presbyterian church, marking the close of the Daily Vacation Bible school. The union evening meetings during the summer months have been customary for several years.

A program of music featured by whistling solos by Paul M. Spivey of Phoenix, Arizona, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Spivey of this city, attracted a large crowd to the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening.

Sunday evening services at the First United Presbyterian church marked the close of the church's Daily Vacation Bible school. A program and demonstration was given by the pupils.

Sunday marked the close of the first two months' ministry by the Rev. B. F. Cato at the Main Street Christian church, and during that time, there have been twenty-one additions to the church.

Under the direction of David S. McIntosh, director, the choir of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church gave an exceptionally fine musical program Sunday night. The pastor, the Rev. H. W. Hargett, preached another one of the series of nature sermons Sunday morning, and the next one in the series next Sunday morning will be from the topic, "Pity The Deaf in a World of Voices."

St. Paul's Church

The morning sermon, "Pity the Blind—In a World of Beauty," delivered by the Rev. H. W. Hargett at the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church Sunday, was taken from the text, Eccl. 3:11, "He hath made everything beautiful in its season."

The sermon was in part: "The writer does not tell us why

LARGE CROWD AT SCHOOL CEREMONY

Church Pastors and Scores of People From Surrounding Cities at Cornerstone Laying

ST. MARY'S SCHOOL EVENT

Address Delivered by the Rev. Alexander of Oldenburg—Lunch and Dinner at Social Club

Church pastors and scores of people from cities in this section of Indiana were in Rushville Sunday for the ceremony attending the laying of the cornerstone for St. Mary's Catholic school and community building, which is being erected on the school site at the rear of St. Mary's church.

Religious services were held in the church preceding the ceremony and immediately following the services a procession formed and moved to the school building, which is under construction, the program in connection with the cornerstone laying was held.

The blessing of the cornerstone, which had been put in place by brick masons, was done by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Theodore S. Mesker of Connersville. The address preceding the laying of the cornerstone was delivered by the Rev. Alexander, O. F. M., of Oldenburg. Visiting pastors participated in the ritualistic service that was held following the address.

At the conclusion of the address, the audience joined in singing the national anthem.

Visitors were entertained with a lunch served cafeteria style at the Social Club rooms, about one hundred being served, and in the evening six hundred were served with a dinner at the Social club. In connection with the dinner, a musical program was given, with selections by St. Mary's school orchestra and vocal solos by Miss Irene Reardon, Miss Mary Gale and Carl Gulde and violin solo by Viola Mosier.

Visiting pastors in addition to those previously mentioned were: The Rt. Rev. Msgr. P. Roell of Richmond, the Rt. Rev. Henry Elmet of Shelbyville, the Rev. John Gallacher of Newcastle, the Rev. John Rager of Shelbyville, the Rev. John Roduskey of Cambridge City, the Rev. P. Schneider of Greensburg, the Rev. Clement Zepf of Richmond, the Rev. Ignatius Collins, C. P. S., of Liberty, the Rev. Henry Doll of Vincennes, the Rev. Thomas McGrath of Greensburg, the Rev. Herman Gadlage of Morris and the Rev. Edward Zirkelbach of Hamburg.

The Rev. Alexander spoke of the value of having Christ enshrined in the hearts of children and emphasized the importance of teaching them every day of Christ and His works.

He said that each school day in a Catholic school children heard Christ's word and felt His presence, and that Catholics built their educational system on the theory that knowledge alone was not enough, but that the heart had to be bent as well.

Father Alexander pointed out in the beginning of his address that Rushville and the congregation of St. Mary's parish were to be congratulated on the erection of such a school because of the importance of Christian education in the life of

YELLOW PATCHES OF DODDER MORE NUMEROUS

Although Weed is Bad All Over State, Most Damage is Reported From Southern Section

IMPURE SEED IS TO BLAME

(By United Press)

Lafayette, Ind., June 29.—Yellow patches of dodder in clover and alfalfa fields are probably more numerous this year than at any time in the history of the state, according to the agricultural extension department of Purdue university.

Although the weed is bad all over the state, most damage is reported from the southern section. The pest is appearing for the first time on a number of farms and is spreading rapidly on farms where it was already present.

Impure seed is given as the source of the trouble. Last season about 20 per cent of 531 samples of clover seed offered for sale in all parts of the state contained dodder, while nearly 30 per cent of 111 samples of alfalfa seed were contaminated with the weed.

The most important control measure, according to the Purdue experts, is to keep a close watch during June and July on fields of clover and alfalfa seeded during 1924 and 1925.

As soon as the yellow patches of dodder appear, they should be cut, covered with straw and burned before the dodder seeds have an opportunity to mature.

God hath made everything beautiful. Is it not that He may reveal himself through the beauty of the earth and the beauty of the skies? It is his purpose that every soul shall know Him. That is the clear-cut definite purpose of the Word of God, the Son of God and the Works of God. Pity the blind who miss this revelation of the divine.

What is this beauty? It is the handwriting of God. It is a message from the heart of God to the soul of man. The highest forms of life that we know, outside of man, are the horse, the dog, the monkey and the ape. No one of them under the most careful tests has ever shown any real appreciation of beauty. All that nature says to them is "Fall to and eat." To man with eyes to see and the soul to appreciate, it says "Stand still, understand and worship."

For whom is this beauty? For all except the blind. Henry Ward Beecher said, "I am absolutely sure that God made this world for poor folks. Why? Because he left so much of it out of doors where all could enjoy its beauty." The loveliness of the world does not require for its appreciation the skill of the scientist nor the wisdom of the sage, only the heart of the lover. Nature belongs not alone to those who own her land but to those who love her landscape.

Where is this beauty? Everywhere. What is more common than the grass? It is a vast pebbled multitude. It is earth's chosen robe, her household garb that becomes her well. Each tiny blade of grass is more finely woven than any lace from the mills of men. Each spear of grass that pierces the sod has as much skill expended in its structure as the giant redwood that counts its years by the thousands. Each stock of grass tells its own story of struggle, of divine assistance, of victory, a story that goes back to the dim beginning of all things and forward to the endless end of the world. Each blade of grass whispers to the reverent soul "The place whereon thou standest is holy ground." The reverent soul responds "God is in this place, and I knew it not."

The purpose of religion is to create the highest form of beauty—the beauty of the soul. It is only the one altogether lovely that can transform the unlovely into the lovely. I picked up a dried withered leaf fit only for the fire. I held it to the light and in an instant it became a thing of beauty shot through with all the colors of the light. A withered leaf was transformed by the light. So with men, "They looked unto Him and were lightened." They were made beautiful. The grace of our Lord transformed them. "Let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us."

Main Street Christian

At the Main Street Christian Church, the Rev. B. F. Cato took for his subject, "Faith Put to the Test" and read as his text 1 Peter 1:7 "that the proof of your faith, being more precious than gold that perisheth though it is proved by fire, may be found unto praise and glory and honor at the revelation of Jesus Christ."

Mr. Cato spoke of the personal quality of the faith of the early disciples who lived so near to the time of the personal ministry of Jesus on earth. That the early preachers could talk to their audiences concerning their personal contact and acquaintance with Jesus for this was before the day of doctrinal Christianity and before the followers of Christ subscribed themselves to any church, creed or doctrine. Theirs was a vivid, enthusiastic faith in a living God presented to them by a preacher who had lived with him and had personal contact with him and could describe his appearance and his habits.

It was this intimate personal faith that was put to the test when either Jews or Gentiles swore allegiance to the new faith and thus went contrary to the teachings and training of past generations and found their new faith standing in the way of their material prosperity, their political ambitions, their personal comforts and their social prestige. Perhaps their greatest trial was to exercise a Christian charity and "love their enemies" and to "forgive those who despitefully used them."

Mr. Cato emphasized that portion of the text that speaks of gold being made more valuable by being cast into the smelter, and so the apostle here teaches that their faith was to be the more precious because of the trials to which it was put. That being true with the early Christians, it is just as true today and those whose faith has been put to the test, who have found something so high that moth and rust cannot corrupt and the storms of these unsettled times cannot shake, are the modern Christians whose religion means most to them, who are enjoying the sweetest peace and living in the light of the brightest hope.

First Presbyterian

The Rev. Gibson Wilson used for his text Sunday morning, "He must needs go through Samaria," from John 4:4, and his theme was, "Has God a Plan For Our Life?" He said in part:

"The Samaritans were a despised people who were usually avoided, but this shows Jesus attitude toward race prejudices. Samaria lay in the path of the divine plan. He must talk with the woman of Samaria.

"Life is a plan of God. If man is only a mere plaything of fate, and chance, then man's brightest day would be only a dirge? Every life is a plan of God. It may be thwarted by ignorance on the part of self or some other person.

"Joseph's life was made up of misfortunes, pitfalls, treachery and prisons, but led by ways that were mysterious. He was always at the time and place of service.

"God's plan for his own Son was by way of the cross with sorrow, and gloom and treachery, but out of it he is leading a redeemed humanity.

"Pain is sometimes described as the shadow of the sunshine, the thorn of the rose. Some would have gone around their Samaria of affliction but life's plan said, "I must needs go through this affliction."

"Some have been notably free from pain and disappointments but has it occurred to you that their character is poorer in spiritual attainments? Paul thinks he was given the thorn in the flesh to keep himself humble in the presence of the many glories revealed to him.

"But, you ask, how can he know God's plan? A book of instructions is always sent out with every complicated piece of machinery but no plan of life is ever placed in the hand of the child by his angel.

"No, the law of nature tells us God's thought.

"History tells us God's thoughts.

"Rewards and penalties of life speak of God's plan.

"The experience of holy men reveals the plan of God. His plan is recorded in this Book of books. It is a lamp to our feet, a light to our pathway. If you will earnestly seek God's plan for your life, you will find it."

Owing to the great popularity of the special campaign being conducted by Collyer's Studio, they have decided to extend the offer for a limited time to enable everyone to enjoy the great money saving that it affords.

The offer is one of the most liberal inducements ever offered the public, consisting of five regular high class portraits and a special large portrait in a hand carved swinging frame that alone is worth the price of the whole offer.

Mr. Collyer is doing one of his best work at this time. The pictures of the movie candidates appearing Saturday and this week were taken by him.

SOME "KICKS"

Most of us common folks hanker after an occasional kick in life to make us forget our regular jobs. Now about the easiest way to put a lingering kick in our systems is to spend, each day, a little time out in the sunshine, next to old Mother Nature.

As an experiment I have assembled a little bunch of men developers that if purchased soon will produce the non-poisonous kick you need.

Here's what they will do for you—

Garden Tools—

A pair of blistered hands, a lame back, and a good appetite.

Golf Clubs—

The most fun you ever had and an increased vocabulary.

Base Balls—

Two crooked fingers, a bent thumb, and one sore arm.

Tennis—

Love 15, Love 30, Love 40, a hat full of love and a more interested wife.

Lawn Mower—

A caved-in "tummy," a harvest-hand odor, and a beautiful lawn.

Fishing Tackle—

A chance to lie like a gentleman, and get away with it.

Golf Balls

An opportunity to chase something, legitimately.

If the above flock of kick producers doesn't appeal to your idea of joy and health in the open, come in and we'll sell you a Carpet Beater.

P. S. — We will be closed all day Saturday, July 4th. Open Friday Night before.

The Evolution Trial

Thanks doubtless to the inspiration of William Jennings Bryan, Tennessee is decidedly in the limelight. A school teacher has been indicted by a county grand jury on a charge of teaching the theory of evolution contrary to the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth of Tennessee. Lawyers of national reputation will take part in the trial
and the case will doubtless be finally settled only in the Supreme Court. In the meantime the court proceedings will be flashed over the wires to every country in the civilized world. And a great many people will wonder what it is all about.

The question whence we came is one which has attracted a great deal of attention from the lecturers
and newspaper editors, especially during the past few months. Tennessee has prohibited the teaching of evolution on the theory, doubtless that if man descended from the monkey it is against his best interest to know it. But is the matter,
after all, one of such prime importance? A great many wonderful things have had small beginnings.
The truth and force of the Christian religion do not depend on whether or not the theory of evolution is the correct one.

Mr. Bryan says that the theory of evolution is contrary to Christian-
ity. There are other noted religionists, some of them doubtless as profound as Mr. Bryan, who says that there is nothing incompatible in Christianity and evolution. After all, Christianity depends upon the great humane teachings of its founder, rather than upon the theory of the origin of the species.

Christianity is not so much concerned with the question of whence
we came as it is with the problems of the present and the future. It is not where did we come from but whether are we going. The surroundings and condition of our ancestors are not so important as our own potentialities. If we are building for the future, trying to make
the world better because of our having been here, the question of whether our forefathers lived in trees is not so important. Christianity, if we do our duty, will continue to fulfill
its destiny, no matter how the question of evolution is finally decided.

Cross Eyes and Jazz

Dr. Henry J. Schireson of Chicago,
who has just completed a survey
of Illinois penal institutions, says
that cross eyes produce the prevail-
ent craze for jazz.

Within the last five and a half years, he says, the increase in the tendency to cross eyes has been more than 35 percent and that of all the so-called "criminal class," more than 69 percent suffer either from actual cross eye innervation or symptomatic cross eyes with cross
eye tendencies either latent or partially developed.

Those of us who know nothing
of the subject can not honestly dispute the statements the doctor

makes, but everyone will be inclined to be skeptical because the idea is brand new and needs more substantiation.

It must be admitted, though, that if he has discovered the cause of the jazz craze and knows the cure, he has performed a public service of inestimable value.

Word has been received from Miss

Twelve other people had attacks of the same poison and it is thought that it was the result of eating some canned fruit.

Mrs. W. D. Root and son Paul are expected here from Piqua, Ohio, tomorrow for a visit with relatives.

Edwin Watson left this morning for Culver Military academy, which is on Maxinkuckee Lake to attend
the summer quarter of the school.

Miss Elizabeth Hackleman, who went to Chicago today to spend the summer with her sister, Mrs. J. O.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Barrett have gone to Bloomington to attend
the wedding of Miss Edith Mat-

NO WONDER THE MONKEYS ARE WORRIEDStewart's Washington LetterBY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Upon the next twelve months' political developments growing out of Senator Robert M. La Follette's death depends national Progressiveism's future, perhaps for many years.

Is Progressiveism a movement
of which La Follette was no more
than a part—a mighty important part—but only a part?

Or was he the whole thing?
If the former's the "case," of course, even the death of a strong leader can spell no more than a temporary setback, a little more delay.

If the latter, the cause, too, is dead.

To be sure, there'll be progress,
with a small "p," but the group
the Wisconsin senator led inevitably will break up—various political caucuses probably will end with the expiration of current terms.

ONE thing which suggests
weakness, at first thought,
may prove to be Progressiveism's strength—though referred to as a "blow," it never was a hard-
and-fast alignment, like a party,
with regular adherents, requiring
to be led.

La Follette did sound the call for every rally which the independents made.

Will somebody else be found to do this in his place? Or is no particular leader needed?

The next session of Congress
will begin to show. Administration spokesmen profess to feel sure
already that insurgency is a thing
of the past.

In reality, nobody can tell without a definite test.

IF Progressiveism's fate depends
on a successor to La Follette who can fill his shoes, nobody's in sight.

Senator Borah has the necessary qualities of strength, courage and magnetism, but he isn't a Progressive—with a big "P"—all the time. A follower may be a parttimer, but a leader must be consistently on the job.

Senator Norris is so regular in his Progressiveism as to be almost the real thing, but he hasn't

the pugnacity La Follette possessed. He can put up a terrific fight when he likes, but he doesn't always like.

Senator Wheeler's a "whole hog"
Progressive and nobody ever was readier for a scrap, but he isn't as yet, a political heavyweight, which
is essential in this case.

Besides, he's a Democrat, and to be effective at this time, Progressiveism needs to draw from the Republicans' strength.

That about exhausts the list of available.

Progressiveism, if it's to survive without La Follette, must survive on its own merits. It can't hope to be pulled through by virtue of strong leadership.

This, of course, refers to the Progressiveism which was launched at the Cleveland conference of a year ago.

Something else may develop later along the same lines. That's a different thing.

NEEDLESS to say, the regular Republicans will spare no
effort, having been afflicted
far worse by Progressiveism than
it has troubled the Democrats, to make Wisconsin safe for regularity at the election of 1926.

With La Follette gone, they are much more hopeful of Senator Lenroot's return to the upper house and hopes are expressed of putting a regular in La Follette's
own seat.

They can't do this until November of next year, since the vacancy
will be filled temporarily by Governor Blaine's appointment, and,
as he is a Progressive himself, a Progressive will be his choice.

ONE remark by Senator Wheeler
may prove significant—that
"La Follette dead will be more powerful even than La Fol-
lette alive."

This isn't impossible. His name
may become one to conjure by.

With his death, much of the bitterness which was felt toward
him living will disappear.

Idealized, it is quite likely there will be immense strength for the cause he preached in his memory
—perhaps a strength greater than his own, a living man on the Senate floor.

Hot Weather Hints

A suit, dress or any other garment is so much cooler and more comfortable when it is clean and a suit looks so much neater and more dressy when it has a good press in it.

Don't neglect these facts, for personal appearance counts much
and it must not be right just in cool weather and neglected in warm weather. To dress well and look nice, means the year 'round—not just at times.

BATESVILLE SHORTSTOP IS HERO OF THE GAME

Knocks Ball Over Fence for Home Run in Second Inning for Only Score in Game

CONTEST A PITCHER'S DUEL

Yesterday's hero in baseball, was Boelmer, shortstop for Batesville, who knocked the ball over the fence for a home run in the second inning against Rushville, and won the game for his team, by the score of 1 to 0.

The game was by far one of the best ever seen here, and the only thing that prevented extra innings was the fact that the shortstop had clouted the ball earlier in the game. After that, neither team could advance any further than second base. Each team played errorless ball.

The game was a pitcher's battle between Shaw of Rushville, who allowed only five hits, and Nieman for Batesville gave only three bingles. Shaw fanned 4, Nieman 5, and most of the putouts went to first base on infield rollers. Rushville will play Summitville next Sunday.

Score by innings:
Batesville 010 000 000—1-5-0
Rushville 000 000 000—0-3-0

AMUSEMENTS

"The Arizona Romeo"

Much interest attaches itself to "The Arizona Romeo," the William Fox star series picture which comes to the Castle Theatre today. For one thing it features the ever-popular, good looking Western star, Buck Jones who will be remembered for his excellent work in "The Man Who Played Square."

For the second part it allows the beautiful Lucy Fox to appear in a role which is ideal. Third, an excellent supporting cast consisting of Maine Geary, Thomas R. Mills, Hardee Kirkland, Marcella Daly, Lydia Yeomans, Harvey Clark, and Hank Mann has been provided.

Another outstanding feature of this production is the combination of comedy and thrills that crowd the action of the picture.

"The Arizona Romeo" was directed by Edmund Mortimer from his scenario prepared from an original story by Charles Kenyon.

Mae Marsh at Princess

More than a quarter of a million dollars were spent on the production of "Paddy the Next Best Thing," Mae Marsh's latest photoplay made in London and Ireland, in which she makes her formal return to the screen after an absence of two years, and which has been books as the feature attraction today and Tuesday at the Princess theatre under an Allie Producers and Distributors Corporation release.

In this film version of Gertrude Page's famous novel and stage play of the same title there are many exciting hunting, yacht racing and sporting scenes, as well as some notable studio settings which form, as it were, a wonderfully splendid background for a delightfully humorous and highly dramatic story.

One of the most ambitious of the latter examples is that of a scale reproduction of an Irish castle which was built at a cost of several thousand pounds at the Graham Wilcox studios in London. It was by far the biggest set ever built in any English studio. It had but three days of life; then it made way for a big hotel interior; a cottage set in the center of a delightful garden, and a physician's consulting room—all at once. Such is the scope of modern picture production.

"Catholics believe," he added, "that a good school comes before a good church because we realize that we can not have a good congregation unless we have a good school to teach children to become good men and women."

The speaker asserted that Christ would be welcome in any Catholic school because His word is taught there daily and children are made to feel His presence. He said Catholics did not believe that a half hour's lesson once a week in Sunday school was sufficient training for children along religious lines.

Father Alexander pointed out that non-Catholic friends said that Catholics were opposed to the public schools, but he asserted that this was far from the truth because Catholics submit to double taxation without murmuring, paying for their own schools as well as paying taxes to support the public schools.

He also pointed out that Catholics profit from the public schools by using some of their text books and using their methods in many instances. He also said that many sisters attended normal schools where public school teachers are trained.

"Some of our non-Catholic friends also say that we are not good Americans," he continued, "but I submit to you that no one appreciates free America with her liberty and freedom more than Catholics. We especially enjoy the freedom that America offers and guarantees because in some lands Catholics are persecuted because of their beliefs."

The speaker referred to the wiping out of the Oregon school law, which sought to abolish Catholic and all other parochial and private schools, as an example of American freedom of speech, thought and religious belief. He declared that the unanimous opinion of the members of the United States supreme court in declaring the law unconstitutional was evidence that America is still the land of the free.

Before the examination Saturday, it was stated that only two persons in the county were eligible for the appointment, Mrs. Farthing being one and Mrs. Edna Burdick of this city, who passed the test in May with a grade of 88. She is a republican, and is the daughter of Will Hardin, living in West Third street.

In case Mrs. Farthing resigns, the county school superintendent is required to make a recommendation for the appointment, and with the list appearing as three democrats and one republican, it is expected that a heated session will result, when the board meets to confirm the appointment.

to ten years.
In the confessions of the three, they implicated Sylvia Headlee of this county, the garage owner at Gowdy, and when it was searched, the Saunders car was found there, according to the officers.

The two Carthage men, in their confession, are said to have stated that Headlee gave them $50 to steal a Ford coupe, and deliver it to him at his garage, which they state resulted in the theft here of the Saunders machine.

A cancelled check for $50 is said to figure in the transaction, and Mr. Headlee is said to contend that the two Carthage boys brought the car to his garage and offered to sell it for $50, and that he made the payment requested by them.

Headlee was arraigned here and pleaded not guilty to the charge of conspiracy, and also not guilty to a charge of receiving stolen goods, and provided $2,500 bond on each case for his appearance in September, when the case will be set for trial.

What Comes After the "Flu"

Chiropractic Health Talk No. 216

By H. V. McCully, D. C., Ph. C.

Most of those who have survived a severe attack of the "flu," if usual methods were employed in effecting the "recovery" will testify that a train of ills very often follows in its wake. Under old-time methods almost anything can develop.

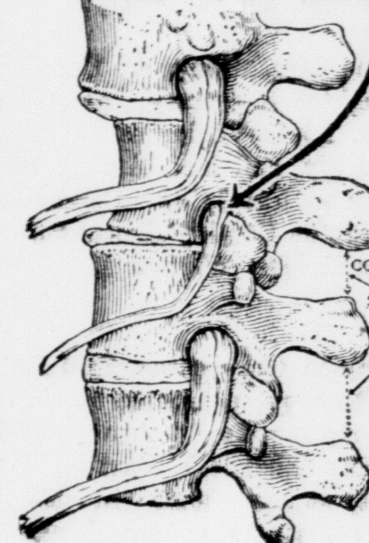

This is so because the "flu" is a condition due to decreased resistance power as a result of interference with nerves at the spinal column. Drugs employed to suppress symptoms do not correct the cause, but may drive the effects elsewhere.

The correct method of combatting the "flu" is to restore the flow of vital energy over the nerve lines to normal by removing the interference with those nerves. If Chiropractic is employed, the answer to "What comes after the 'flu,'" is "Health."

Recovers From "Flu" and Effects of Previous Attack

"I took sick with influenza on the night of April 5th. The medical doctor said I had irritation of bronchial tubes and lungs which could easily develop into pneumonia. I grew worse, and on April 9th we called a chiropractor. In less than three weeks I was able to walk about the house. Since I began taking adjustments I have taken no medicine, have felt no bad effects and my return to strength has been rapid. I consider my recovery all the more remarkable, because, according to several physicians, I have had endocarditis since suffering from influenza in 1918, and am now entirely relieved of same."—Mrs. James E. Fulton, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 2113-M.

Wear Necklace Down the Back

If you draw a V from shoulder line to waistline, and then scoop out the material inside the V you uncover quite an expanse of back. If this bothers you at all, follow the plan of Carmel Myers and wear one of the new back necklaces of diamonds and pearls—just like the pendant effects that were once worn down the front. It breaks up the dead white of the shoulders and offers some explanation for the cut of the frock. Really, it's a very smart thing to do these days.

The marriage of Miss Helen Elizabeth Mull to Sabert Denning Nelson took place at eight o'clock Saturday evening, June 27, with a beautiful ceremony at the home of the bride's parents near Homer. The service was read by the Rev. O. J. McMullen before an altar of ferns and tall baskets of white hydranges arranged in front of the fire place in the living room. The altar was lighted with fifteen white cathedral candles. Baskets of white sweetpeas, hydranges and ferns were used profusely to carry out the color scheme of green and white in the living room.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Ida Huppert of Indianapolis sang "Oh Promise Me," and "At Dawning." She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Hope Cooper of Indianapolis. For the entrance of the bridal party, Charles Shipman, harpist, played the wedding march from Lohegrin and during the ceremony, "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "For You Alone."

production. At the Princess Theatre interior scenes will be made Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and nights before the audience, as an addition to the regular feature bill, and on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, during the day, the exterior scenes will be made. The movie men expect to have the "shooting" done by Thursday, and the picture will be screened as soon as possible.

The wreck scene, which will be made Thursday on a downtown street corner, will be one of the big features of the picture, according to the directors.

After looking over the city in quest of locations for backgrounds for exterior scenes Mr. Petty declared that Rushville has a wealth of beautiful homes and the city should be proud of them. In addition to the number of scenes that will be made from the script of the story, a panoramic view will be made and this scene will be incorporated into the finished production.

Mr. Petty is elated over the prospects of his picture and of the splendid co-operation of every one concerned in helping him and he gives assurance that when the picture is finally finished, it will be a huge success as everything is in his favor.

Director Petty regards the cast as exceptionally well suited to the parts they will fill and he expects the finished product to be one of the best he ever made.

Some of the exterior scenes will be made at Miss Reed's home, because of the beauty of the surroundings.

The Rushville Motor Sales company, of which Virgil Maffett is manager, will provide two new Chrysler automobiles for the wreck scene.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Saturday broke all records for marriage licenses, when June brides numbered six. Three of the licenses were announced Saturday, and the other three issued were to the following couples: Edward Phillips, a truck driver of this city, and Hazel Ridenbaugh, also of this city; Russell Aldridge, farmer and Gladys Fritts, glove maker, daughter of Louis Fritts of this city; Harold R. Clarkson, a sawyer of this city and Dorothy V. Whitaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Whitaker of this city.

tism would be an individual affair. Anyone who wanted to be immersed, I would gladly immerse. Anyone who wanted to be sprinkled, I would gladly sprinkle. If anybody had conscientious scruples against any ritual, I would gladly without baptism welcome him on confession of his faith. Why not?

"Our answer is simple. We prefer loyalty to the Lordship of Jesus rather than to the personal opinion of Dr. Fosdick. The teaching of Jesus concerning baptism is clear. And as Baptists, we hold that no man, be he Pope, bishop, priest or minister has a right to alter the plain teaching of Christ. So long, therefore, as the command remains on the Divine statute book we shall continue to obey it. We do not question either the motive or the intelligence of Dr. Fosdick. But we do question his authority to alter the command of Christ. I am sure, my brethren, that you support me when I say that the First Baptist church of Rushville will still maintain its present well known position."

hew 17:5, "This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased, hear ye him." As our Lord was being transfigured on the mountain, in the sight of the three disciples, these words were spoken by the Father out of Heaven. The greatest witness of all bears testimony as to the person and mission of Christ. No more weighty words were ever spoken. He is publicly acknowledged as "His Beloved Son." It is significant that his twentieth century impiety calls his sonship in question. The Father declared himself as "well pleased" with the son and he commends him to men as counselor and teacher. Hear ye Him."

At the evening service the Daily Vacation Bible school gave its closing exercises. It consisted in songs, sung from memory, passages of scripture recited; map drills locating the places frequented by the boy Jesus; a cantata by the Juniors requiring twenty minutes to sing, and specimens of memory work done by the various groups. After the regular closing exercises of the school, saluting the Stars and Stripes, singing "America," saluting the Christian flag and singing "The Banner," then all stood with reverent attention and repeated the closing benediction.

The exhibits of manual work done by the pupils attracted much attention and favorable comment by those who tarried after the close of the meeting.

First Baptist Church

In his sermon yesterday morning in the First Baptist church, the pastor, in an attack upon the steps recently taken, and widely advertised, by the Park Avenue Baptist Church, of New York in calling Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, said in part, "The recent call of Dr. Fosdick to the Park Avenue church is too significant to be overlooked by thoughtful Baptists anywhere. In calling Dr. Fosdick the church declared, at his suggestion, for inclusive membership. For at least three reasons this action is of unusual importance."

"First, because of Dr. Fosdick. As a preacher of unusual ability, he has probably influenced the student life of America as few other men of his day. What he has written has been read eagerly, as the sale of his books will testify, and likewise, he has been greeted with unusually large audiences everywhere.

"Second, because of Park Avenue church. Holding membership in this church, holding membership in this prominent people in America, including the Rockefellers and the Colgates. The action of such a church is of more than passing interest.

"Third, because of Dr. Fosdick and Park Avenue church have forsaken the historic Baptist position, and what we believe to be the clear teaching of the Scriptures, in declaring for inclusive church membership.

"Along with other great principles, our position on believers baptism has cost our Baptist forefathers untold pain and suffering. It is this question that today causes us to take issue with Dr. Fosdick.

"In his farewell sermon before the First Presbyterian church he gave his views on this question in these words: 'Why should things like baptism divide? If I had my way bap-

ALL WORN OUT

So Was Mrs. Sutton Who Tells Her Experience

Are you tired all the time; worn-out night and day? Does your back ache as if it would break? Do you suffer dizziness, headaches, rheumatic twinges or distressing urinary disorders? You have good cause, then to be alarmed about your kidneys. Do as many of your townfolk recommend. Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. This Rushville case is convincing.

Mrs. Wm. Sutton, 613 W. Third St., says: "Backache wore me out. Severe attacks of headaches came often and I also became dizzy and spots before my eyes blurred my sight. My kidneys didn't act often enough, so I used Doan's Pills, from Pitman & Wilson's Drug Store and they cured me of kidney trouble."

SANTA BARBARA, CALIF., IS REDUCED TO RUINS BY QUAKE

Sixty-Five Dead Have Been Counted, According to Word Reaching San Francisco

FIRE BREAKS OUT IN RUINS

Collapse Gibraltar Dam Near City Unloosened Torrent of Water, Adding to Panic

SANTA BARBARA ISOLATED

Leading Hotels Crumble and Business Blocks Are in Ruins—First Tremor 6:45 A. M.

(By United Press)
San Francisco, Calif., June 29—Sixty-five dead have been counted in Santa Barbara's earthquake disaster, according to word reaching Southern Pacific officers here.

Fire had broken out in several sections of the city and is spreading rapidly. Water mains were wrecked and firemen have limited facilities with which to battle the flames.

The Southern Pacific has concentrated all available tank cars, five of them filled with water, and they are being rushed to the stricken city.

The quake reduced sections of Santa Barbara to ruins, according to information. Buildings were demolished, pavements uprooted, and the collapse of the Gibraltar dam near the city unloosened a torrent of water, which flooded the city, adding to the panic and suffering.

Santa Barbara and the surrounding cities were isolated, with rail and wire communications paralyzed. Special trains have been rushed from Los Angeles and San Francisco with Red Cross and other relief.

The quake was general throughout Southern California, but apparently centered at Santa Barbara where the most damage was done and loss of lives was greatest.

Leading hotels crumbled to pieces and business blocks were in ruins. The first tremble was felt over a large area at 6:45 a. m. this morning. At Santa Barbara and other cities tremors shook the area at intervals of twenty minutes. Another tremble less violent shook Santa Barbara at 8:30 a. m., spreading further terror among inhabitants.

Buildings were demolished at Monte cito, millionaire resort, Gohita, Naples and other cities adjacent to Santa Barbara. The Southern Pacific Station at Santa Barbara was split in two and tracks for miles thrown out of line.

Airplanes and special trains were hastily dispatched to the stricken area with relief, when reports of the disaster first filtered through.

There are a number of tall buildings in Santa Barbara's business section and it is left that a number of persons lost their lives when they collapsed. State street, leading thoroughfare, was completely undermined, and its shops, some of the finest in Southern California, are in ruins.

Buildings were partially demolished at Gaviota, near Santa Barbara without loss of life.

The railroad station at Gohita, near Santa Barbara, collapsed and all wires leading into the town were down.

MILROY MAN IS SENTENCED

Walter Mansfield Convicted at Greensburg for Intoxication

William Mansfield of Milroy, who was arrested one day last week in Greensburg on a charge of intoxication, has been taken to the penal farm to begin serving his sentence of 60 days. He was fined in that city, $25 and cost, and being unable to pay, was committed to the state farm.

He was arrested with his twin brother, Walter Mansfield, but no charge was preferred against him as officers stated he was not intoxicated. The men were jailed for causing a disturbance in a Greensburg hotel. It is the first instance of this kind in this vicinity in which a penal farm sentence was resulted on an intoxication charge, and which was the prime motive of the statute for increasing the penalties.

Refugees Confirm Report of Disaster

(By United Press)
Ventura, Calif., June 29—Refugees from Santa Barbara arrived here shortly before noon and confirmed reports of the disastrous earthquake at Santa Barbara, which has taken an estimated toll of twenty to thirty lives and reduced the city to virtual ruins.

At least half of the business places and down town Santa Barbara were partially or completely demolished, E. B. Hollister, an eye witness, told the United Press.

The county hospital, two miles from the city, was partially demolished, several nurses being slightly hurt, by the falling debris, but the patients were removed safely.

St. Vincent's Orphanage was partly wrecked, the walls cracked and the roof sliding partly off. The nurses removed one hundred and fifty children to a hillside nearby.

Sylvia Headlee, Gowdy Garage Owner, Charged With Conspiracy and Receiving Stolen Goods

GIVES $2,500 BOND ON EACH

Finley Nelson and Clyde Willis of Carthage, Both Sentenced, Implicated Gowdy Man

Sylvia Headlee, garage owner of Gowdy, has been arrested and placed under $5,000 bond in the Rush circuit court, being implicated by state police as a member of the automobile thieves' gang, three other alleged members of which have been sentenced in other courts.

Headlee is charged here with conspiracy to commit a felony, following a search at his garage which is said to have revealed a Ford coupe belonging to Thomas Saunders of this city, which was stolen from the business district of Rushville last February.

In this affidavit for conspiracy, are named Finley Nelson and Clyde Willis, both of Carthage, who are said to have confessed, and implicated Headlee. These two were arrested last week by state policemen Sam Young and Paul Shinn, and removed directly from Carthage to Vincennes.

They made the confession at Vincennes, it is said, and were sentenced to serve terms in prison, and are now serving their terms. The fourth member implicated is Harry Headlee of Shelbyville, who has pleaded guilty and was sentenced Saturday afternoon from Shelbyville.

He was arrested at Vincennes, it is said, attempting to sell a stolen car that was taken from Howard Meyers of Shelbyville. This car had the motor number changed, and it was upon this charge of defacement of numbers, that he pleaded guilty, and was sentenced from two Continued on Page Five

CARS IN COLLISION

Two machines were in collision Saturday afternoon at Fifth and Main streets, when cars driven by Mrs. Charles Palmer of this city, and Watt Siders, living north of Rushville, were slightly damaged. The Palmer machine was the most seriously damaged. She was driving into Main off of Fifth street, and is said to have become confused with other machines on the streets. No one was injured.

Many Favorable Comments on Appearance of Staff and Decorations of I. O. O. F. Hall

One hundred twenty-one novices made the weary pilgrimage to the sacred shrine at Nahor during the week-end activities of the Pilgrims of Nahor at the Odd Fellow Temple. Twenty were present at the special meeting Friday evening and one hundred one at the state gathering Saturday night.

Over four hundred members from all parts of the state were present and participated in the ceremonies that lasted until nearly midnight.

Many favorable comments were made on the appearance of the staff and the decoration of the hall and the hundred novitiates pledged themselves to bring others to the shrine at the next pilgrimage.

A class of twelve received the decoration of the Knights of L'Emon, while only two were inducted into the Nimrods—a more exclusive classification.

The collection taken, which is one of the features of the work, was devoted toward equipping the new dining room at the Odd Fellows Home at Greensburg with dishes, and a liberal response was made to the plea.

Among the prominent members of the order present were F. L. Behrmer, of Liberty, grand master; H. F. Hardin, Marion, deputy grand warden; L. A. Hendler, Richmond, grand trustee; R. H. 3 TAKE TEST FOR SCHOOL POSITION

Special Examination for County Attendance Officer, Regular Time Being in Spring

TWO TOOK THE TEST THEN

Intimated That Mrs. Lavearne Farthing May Resign—One Other Applicant Eligible

Mrs. Lavearne Farthing, county attendance officer, is preparing to resign from the office, it was intimated today, and for this reason a special examination was held Saturday in the court house, when three persons took the test.

It was not known in advance that a special examination would be held, as a test was given in May for applicants and at that time it was said no other opportunity would be offered for the test. At that time two persons took the test, it was stated.

The three Saturday who appeared were Roy Ward, Bert Hungerford and Morton Conner. All three aspirants for the place are said to be democrats. The appointment is usually recommended by the county superintendent of schools, but must be affirmed by the county board of education, including the twelve township trustees, and a representative of the city school board.

Although no official statement has been issued that Mrs. Farthing is going to quit, yet it is indicated because a special examination was called, and it would not have been necessary for an examination at this time, unless an emergency, was going to exit.

The usual appointment of an attendance officer is made at the first meeting in August of the county board. Because of the fact that the Rushville city schools are interested in the appointment, one member of the city school board represents the board at the meeting. Continued on Page Five

COURT CLOSING FOR SUMMER VACATION

Hearing on Claim Against American Paper Products Co., Carried Over to September

DIVORCE COMPLAINT FILED

Mary Rhodes Demands Legal Separation from Husband—Fleehart Divorce Decision

Circuit court, ended today for summer vacation and will convene again the first Monday in September, and a case involving a claim by the Lagerloef Trading Company against the American Paper Products Company of Carthage, set for this morning, was carried over until September 14.

Among the new business filed today, is a complaint for divorce, filed by Mary Katherine Rhodes against Floyd G. Rhodes, in which she sets out that they were married July 19, 1924 and separated February 10, 1925. In her complaint she charged that her husband had failed to provide a home since their marriage, that he refused to buy her clothing, and when she was seriously ill, had failed to employ a physician. They resided in Center township, with his father, according to the complaint. She also seeks to have her former name of Mary Katherine Cohoe restored.

Michael Kney has filed an action against Edward G. Carr and Emma K. Carr, the suit being to collect $3,500 on a note and to set aside a conveyance to real estate.

John D. McGee, special judge in the divorce suit of Carrie Fleehart against Fred Fleehart, has heard the evidence in the case, and ordered a decree issued to the plaintiff. He also in the decree, enjoins the plaintiff from remarrying for a period of two years.

The complaint for damages, filed recently by Jefferson Davis of Decatur county against Walter R. Thomas, mayor of Rushville, will be tried in some other court, following the motion asking for a change of venue, filed by the plaintiff. The case was the result on an automobile accident south of Rushville recently, in which the defendant allegedly he suffered injuries when the horse and buggy in which he was riding, was struck by a truck owned by Mr. Thomas.

Issues in three divorce suits pending for trial were entered before court adjourned. In the action of D. C. Brooks against Dortha Brooks, the plaintiff was ordered to pay $25 a week support and $200 for her attorney fees.

In the suit of Roxie Gray against Wendell P. Gray, the court has ordered the defendant to pay $5 a week support and $15 for her attorney fees.

DRIVER OF AUTO IS CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

Herbert Niebergall of Indianapolis Arrested After Running Into I. & C. Car

CAR PUT OUT OF COMMISSION

An Indianapolis and Cincinnati interurban car is "laid up" in the barns here today for repairs as the result of an accident at South-eastern Ave., and Emerson Ave., in Indianapolis Saturday, when Herbert Niebergall of Indianapolis drove his automobile into the side of the traction car.

He and Mrs. Pearl Marsh, also of Indianapolis, were seriously injured and narrowly escaped death from burns. The auto was knocked 100 feet and caught fire after the gasoline tank exploded.

Niebergall was charged with assault and battery, according to Indianapolis dispatches today, after witnesses exonerated Charles Palmer of this city, the motorman.

The machine struck the interurban car just back of the front trucks and broke and bent the air compressor and resistance coils, which are valuable apparatus used in operating the car.

AWNING DESTROYED BY FIRE

Loss Suffered at Quality Bake Shop Saturday Evening

An awning, recently installed at a cost of $65 in front of the Quality Bake Shop in the Kramer building, 220 North Morgan street, was destroyed by fire Saturday night shortly before ten o'clock. The loss was protected with insurance, according to Winfield Stephens, owner of the bakery.

The awning was water soaked from the rainfall but burned regardless. Firemen attributed the blaze as due to defective wiring entering the building at that point, but Mr. Stephens stated that one of the clerks in the bakery saw a passerby flip a cigarette in the air a short time before the blaze, and it probably landed underneath the awning protected from the rain. The fire trucks responded to a telephone call, but the canvas was practically destroyed.

CHURCH SERVICES SUNDAY

Program Marks Close of Vacation Bible School—21 Additions to Christian Church

Sunday evening union meetings of Rushville churches will begin the first Sunday in July, next Sunday, and will be held at the coliseum in Memorial park, with the exception of Sunday evening, July 12, when services will be at the First Presbyterian church, marking the close of the Daily Vacation Bible school. The union evening meetings during the summer months have been customary for several years.

A program of music featured by whistling solos by Paul M. Spivey of Phoenix, Arizona, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Spivey of this city, attracted a large crowd to the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening.

Sunday evening services at the First United Presbyterian church marked the close of the church's Daily Vacation Bible school. A program and demonstration was given by the pupils.

Sunday marked the close of the first two months' ministry by the Rev. B. F. Cato at the Main Street Christian church, and during that time, there have been twenty-one additions to the church.

Under the direction of David S. McIntosh, director, the choir of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church gave an exceptionally fine musical program Sunday night. The pastor, the Rev. H. W. Harrett, preached another one of the series of nature sermons Sunday morning, and the next one in the series next Sunday morning will be from the topic, "Pity The Deaf in a World of Voices."

St. Paul's Church

The morning sermon, "Pity The Blind—In a World of Beauty," delivered by the Rev. H. W. Harrett at the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church Sunday, was taken from the text, Eccl. 3:11, "He hath made everything beautiful in its season."

LARGE CROWD AT SCHOOL CEREMONY

Church Pastors and Scores of People From Surrounding Cities at Cornerstone Laying

ST. MARY'S SCHOOL EVENT

Address Delivered by the Rev. Alexander of Oldenburg—Lunch and Dinner at Social Club

Church pastors and scores of people from cities in this section of Indiana were in Rushville Sunday for the ceremony attending the laying of the cornerstone for St. Mary's Catholic school and community building, which is being erected on the school site at the rear of St. Mary's church.

Religious services were held in the church preceding the ceremony and immediately following the services a procession formed and moved to the school building, which is under construction, the program in connection with the cornerstone laying was held.

The blessing of the cornerstone, after it had been put in place by brick masons, was done by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Theodore S. Mesker of Connersville. The address preceding the laying of the cornerstone was delivered by the Rev. Alexander, O. F. M. of Oldenburg. Visiting pastors participated in the ritualistic service that was held following the address.

At the conclusion of the address, the audience joined in singing the national anthem.

Visitors were entertained with a lunch served cafeteria style at the Social Club rooms, about one hundred being served, and in the evening six hundred were served with a dinner at the Social club. In connection with the dinner, a musical program was given, with selections by St. Mary's school orchestra and vocal solos by Miss Irene Reardon, Miss Mary Gide and Carl Gude and violin solo by Viola Moser.

Visiting pastors in addition to those previously mentioned were: The Rt. Rev. Msgr. F. Roell of Richmond, the Rt. Rev. Henry Ebnet of Shelbyville, the Rev. John Gallacher of Newcastle, the Rev. John Rager of Shelbyville, the Rev. John Roduskey of Cambridge City, the Rev. P. Schneider of Greensburg, the Rev. Clement Zepf of Richmond, the Rev. Ignatius Collins, C. P. S. of Liberty, the Rev. Henry Doll of Vincennes, the Rev. Thomas McGrath of Greensburg, the Rev. Herman Gadlage of Morris and the Rev. Edward Zirkelbach of Hamburg.

The Rev. Alexander spoke of the value of having Christ enshrined in the hearts of children and emphasized the importance of teaching them every day of Christ and His works.

He said that each school day in a Catholic school children heard Christ's word and felt His presence, and that Catholics built their educational system on the theory that knowledge alone was not enough, but that the heart had to be bent as well.

Father Alexander pointed out in the beginning of his address that Rushville and the congregation of St. Mary's parish were to be congratulated on the erection of such a school because of the importance of Christian education in the life of (Continued on Page Five)

YELLOW PATCHES OF DODDER MORE NUMEROUS

Although Weed is Bad All Over State, Most Damage is Reported From Southern Section

IMPURE SEED IS TO BLAME

(By United Press)
Lafayette, Ind., June 29—Yellow patches of dodder in clover and alfalfa fields are probably more numerous this year than at any time in the history of the state, according to the agricultural extension department of Purdue university.
Although the weed is bad all over the state, most damage is reported from the southern section. The pest is appearing for the first time on a number of farms and is spreading rapidly on farms where it was already present.
Impure seed is given as the source of the trouble. Last season about 20 per cent of 531 samples of clover seed offered for sale in all parts of the state contained dodder, while nearly 30 per cent of 111 samples of alfalfa seed were contaminated with the weed.
The most important control measure, according to the Purdue experts, is to keep a close watch during June and July on fields of clover and alfalfa seeded during 1924 and 1925.
As soon as the yellow patches of dodder appear, they should be cut, covered with straw and burned before the dodder seeds have an opportunity to mature.

OBITUARY OF DELLA BOHANNON RYON

Della Bohannon Ryon, wife of John W. Ryon, was born in Rush County, Indiana October 22, 1860, died at her late home, 811 N. Arthur street, Rushville, Indiana, Wednesday, June 24th, 1925.
She was united in marriage to John W. Ryon, October 14, 1886. She lived a happy married life for 39 years. To this union were born two sons, Elmer M. Ryon, of Rushville, Indiana, and John Edward Ryon, of Chicago, Ill.
At an early age she united with the Primitive Baptist church, where she remained a member until her death.
She was a devoted wife, and a kind and loving mother, a good citizen, and one who knew no enemies. She leaves a husband, two sons, two grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. A. G. Newbold of Milroy, Indiana, one brother, Gordon Bohannon of Newark, New Jersey, and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss. All is sad within our dwelling. Longly are our hearts today.
For the one we loved so dearly, has forever passed away.
Dearest mother, thou has left us We are here alone
God keeps best when He took thee For a brighter, happier home
This hard to break the tender cord; When love has bound the heart
Thy hard to speak the word We must forever part.

CAUSE OF THANKS
We wish to thank the friends, neighbors, singers, Mr. Wyatt and all those who so kindly helped us in our time of sorrow.
JOHN W. RYON and Family.

God, hath made everything beautiful. Is it not that He may reveal himself through the beauty of the earth and the beauty of the skies? It is his purpose that every soul shall know Him. That is the clear definite purpose of the Word of God, the Son of God and the Works of God. Pity the blind who miss this revelation of the divine.

What is this beauty? It is the handwriting of God. It is a message from the heart of God to the soul of man. The highest forms of life that we know, outside of man, are the horse, the dog, the monkey and the ape. No one of them under the most careful tests has ever shown any real appreciation of beauty. All that nature says to them is "Fall to and eat." To man with eyes to see and the soul to appreciate, it says "Stand still, understand and worship."

For Whom is this beauty? For all except the blind. Henry Ward Beecher said, "I am absolutely sure that God made this world for poor folks. Why? Because he left so much of it out of doors where all could enjoy its beauty." The loveliness of the world does not require for its appreciation the skill of the scientist nor the wisdom of the sage, only the heart of the lover. Nature belongs not alone to those who own her land but to those who love her landscape.

Where is this beauty? Everywhere. What is more common than the grass? It is a vast plebeian multitude. It is earth's chosen robe, her household garb that becomes her well. Each tiny blade of grass is more finely woven than any lace from the mills of men. Each spear of grass that pierces the sod has as much skill expended in its structure as the giant redwood that counts its years by the thousands. Each stock of grass tells its own story of struggle, of divine assistance, of victory, a story that goes back to the dim beginning of all things and forward to the endless end of the world.

Each blade of grass whispers to the reverent soul "The place whereon thou standest is holy ground." The reverent soul responds "God is in this place, and I knew it not." The purpose of religion is to create the highest form of beauty—the beauty of the soul. It is only the one altogether lovely that can transform the unlovely into the lovely. I picked up a dried withered leaf fit only for the fire. I held it to the light and in an instant it became a thing of beauty shot through with all the colors of the light. A withered leaf was transformed by the light. So with men, "They looked unto Him and were lightened." They were made beautiful. The grace of our Lord transformed them. "Let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us."

Main Street Christian
At the Main Street Christian Church, the Rev. B. F. Cato took for his subject, "Faith Put to the Test" and read as his text 1 Peter 1:7 "that the proof of your faith, being more precious than gold that perisheth though it is proved by fire, may be found unto praise and glory and honor at the revelation of Jesus Christ."

Mr. Cato spoke of the personal quality of the faith of the early disciples who lived so near to the time of the personal ministry of Jesus on earth. That the early preachers could talk to their audiences concerning their personal contact and acquaintance with Jesus for this was before the day of doctrinal Christianity and before the followers of Christ subscribed themselves to any church, creed or doctrine. There was a vivid, enthusiastic faith in a living God presented to them by a preacher who had lived with him and had personal contact with him and could describe his appearance and his habits.

It was this intimate personal faith that was put to the test when either Jews or Gentiles swore allegiance to the new faith and thus went contrary to the teachings and training of past generations and found their new faith standing in the way of their material prosperity, their political ambitions, their personal comforts and their social prestige. Perhaps their greatest trial was to exercise a Christian charity and "love their enemies" and to "forgive those who despitefully used them."

Mr. Cato emphasized that portion of the text that speaks of gold being made more valuable by being cast into the smelter, and so the apostle here teaches that their faith was to be the more precious because of the trials to which it was put. That being true with the early Christians, it is just as true today and those whose faith has been put to the test, who have found something so high that moth and rust cannot corrupt and the storms of these unsettled times cannot shake, are the modern Christians whose religion means most to them, who are enjoying the sweetest peace and living in the light of the brightest hope.

First Presbyterian

The Rev. Gibson Wilson used for his text Sunday morning, "He must needs go through Samaria," from John 4:4, and his theme was, "Has God a Plan For Our Life?" He said in part:

"The Samaritans were a despised people who were usually avoided, but this shows Jesus attitude toward race prejudices. Samaria lay in the path of the divine plan. He must talk with the woman of Samaria."

"Life is a plan of God. If man is only a mere plaything of fate, and chance, then man's brightest day would be only a dirge? Every life is a plan of God. It may be thwarted by ignorance on the part of self or some other person."

"Joseph's life was made up of misfortunes, pitfalls, treachery and prisons, but led by ways that were mysterious. He was always at the time and place of service."

"God's plan for his own Son was by way of the cross with sorrow, and gloom and treachery, but out of it he is leading a redeemed humanity."

"Pain is sometimes described as the shadow of the sunshine, the thorn of the rose. Some would have gone around their Samaria of affliction but life's plan said, 'I must needs go through this affliction.' 'Some have been notably free from pain and disappointments but has it occurred to you that their character is poorer in spiritual attainments? Paul thinks he was given the thorn in the flesh to keep himself humble in the presence of the many glories revealed to him."

"But, you ask, how can we know God's plan? A book of instructions is always sent out with every complicated piece of machinery but no plan of life is ever placed in the hand of the child by his angel."

"No, the law of nature tells us God's thought."

"History tells us God's thoughts. 'Rewards and penalties of life speak of God's plan.'"

"The experience of holy men reveals the plan of God. His plan is recorded in this Book of books. It is a lamp to our feet, a light to our pathway. If you will earnestly seek God's plan for your life, you will find it."

SPECIAL OFFER MAKES BIG HIT

Owing To Popularity, Decide To Extend For A Limited Time—Movie Portraits By Collyer.

Owing to the great popularity of the special campaign being conducted by Collyer's Studio, they have decided to extend the offer for a limited time to enable everyone to enjoy the great money saving that it affords.

The offer is one of the most liberal inducements ever offered the public, consisting of five regular high class portraits, and a special large portrait in a hand carved swinging frame that alone is worth the price of the whole offer.

Mr. Collyer is doing one of his best work at this time. The pictures of the movie candidates appearing Saturday and this week were taken by him.

SOME "KICKS"

Most of us common folks hanker after an occasional kick in life to make us forget our regular jobs. Now about the easiest way to put a lingering kick in our systems is to spend, each day, a little time out in the sunshine, next to old Mother Nature.

As an experiment I have assembled a little bunch of men developers that if purchased soon will produce the non-poisonous kick you need.

Here's what they will do for you—

Garden Tools—

A pair of blistered hands, a lame back, and a good appetite.

Golf Clubs—

The most fun you ever had and an increased vocabulary.

Base Balls—

Two crooked fingers, a bent thumb, and one sore arm.

Tennis—

Love 15, Love 30, Love 40, a hat-full of love and a more interested wife.

Lawn Mower—

A caved-in "tummy," a harvest-hand odor, and a beautiful lawn.

Fishing Tackle—

A chance to lie like a gentleman, and get away with it.

Golf Balls

An opportunity to chase something, legitimately.

If the above flock of kick producers doesn't appeal to your idea of joy and health in the open, come in and we'll sell you a Carpet Beater.

P. S. — We will be closed all day Saturday, July 4th. Open Friday Night before.

The Evolution Trial

Thanks doubtless to the inspiration of William Jennings Bryan, Tennessee is decidedly in the line-light. A school teacher has been indicted by a county grand jury on a charge of teaching the theory of
evolution contrary to the peace and
dignity of the Commonwealth of Tennessee. Lawyers of national reputation will take part in the trial
and the case will doubtless be finally settled only in the Supreme Court. In the meantime the court proceedings will be flushed over the wires to every country in the civilized world. And a great many people will wonder what it is all about.

The question whence we came is
one which has attracted a great deal of attention from the lecturers
and newspaper editors, especially during the past few months. Tennessee has prohibited the teaching
of evolution on the theory, doubtless that if man ascended from the monkey it is against his best interest to know it. But is the matter,
after all, one of such prime importance? A great many wonderful things have had small beginnings.
The truth and force of the Christian religion do not depend on whether or not the theory of evolution is the correct one.

Mr. Bryan says that the theory of evolution is contrary to Christian-
ity. There are other noted religion-
ists, some of them doubtless as profound as Mr. Bryan, who says that there is nothing incompatible in Christianity and evolution. After all, Christianity depends upon the great humane teachings of its founder, rather than upon the theory of the origin of the species.

Christianity is not so much concerned with the question of whence
we came as it is with the problems
of the present and the future. It is not where did we come from but whither are we going. The surroundings and condition of our ancestors are not so important as our own potentialities. If we are building for the future, trying to make
the world better because of our having been here, the question of whether
our forefathers lived in trees is not so important. Christianity, if we do our duty, will continue to fulfill
its destiny, no matter how the question of evolution is finally decided.

Cross Eyes and Jazz

Dr. Henry J. Schireson of Chicago,
who has just completed a survey
of Illinois penal institutions, says
that cross eyes produce the prevail-
ent craze for jazz.

Within the last five and a half years, he says, the increase in the
tendency to cross eyes has been
more than 35 percent and that of all
the so-called "criminal class," more
than 69 percent suffer either from actual cross eye innervation or
symptomatic cross eyes with cross
eye tendencies either latent or partially developed.

Those of us who know nothing
of the subject can not honestly dispute the statements the doctor

makes, but everyone will be inclined
to be skeptical because the idea is
brand new and needs more substan-
tiation.

It must be admitted, though, that
if he has discovered the cause of the
jazz craze and knows the cure, he
has performed a public service of inestimable value.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

From Daily Republican
Wednesday, June 29, 1910

A family reunion was held at the home of Mrs. Harlow, mother of City Marshal Jesse Harlow today, when all five of her sons and their families were present. It was the first time in five years that the five brothers have all been together.

"Big Wednesday" crowds were too much for the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gahmer, and she was lost from her mother this afternoon for nearly an hour.

NO WONDER THE MONKEYS ARE WORRIED

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Upon the next twelvemonth's political developments growing out of Senator Robert M. La Follette's
death depends national progres-siveism's future, perhaps for many years.

Is Progressiveism a movement
of which La Follette was no more
than a part—a mighty important
part—but only a part?

Or was he the whole thing?
If the former's the case, of
course, even the death of a strong
leader can spell no more than a temporary setback, a little more
delay.

If the latter, the cause, too, is
dead.

To be sure, there'll be progress,
with a small "p," but the group
the Wisconsin senator led inevitably will break up—various political careers probably will end with the expiration of current terms.

ONE thing which suggests
weakness, at first thought,
may prove to be Progressive-
ism's strength—though referred to as a "bloc," it never was a hard-
and-fast alignment, like a party,
with regular adherents, requiring
to be led.

Still, La Follette did sound the call for every rally which the independents made.

Will somebody else be found to do this in his place? Or is no particular leader needed?

The next session of Congress
will begin to show. Administration spokesmen profess to feel sure
already that insurgency is a thing
of the past.

In reality, nobody can tell with-
out a definite test.

IF Progressiveism's fate depends
on a successor to La Follette
who can fill his shoes, nobody's in sight.

Senator Borah has the necessary
qualities of strength, courage and
magnetism, but he isn't a Progressive—with a big "P"—all the time. A follower may be a part-
timer, but a leader must be consistently on the job.

Senator Norris is so regular in
his Progressiveism as to be almost the real thing, but he hasn't

the pugnacity La Follette possessed. He can put up a terrific
fight when he likes, but he doesn't always like.

Senator Wheeler's a "whole hog"
Progressive and nobody ever was
readier for a scrap, but he isn't as
yet, a political heavyweight, which
is essential in this case.

Besides, he's a Democrat, and to be active at this time, Progressiveism needs to draw from the Republicans' strength.

That about exhausts the list of availabilities.

Progressiveism, if it's to survive without La Follette, must
survive on its own merits. It can't hope to be pulled through by virtue of strong leadership.

This, of course, refers to the Progressiveism which was launched at the Cleveland conference of a year ago.

Something else may develop later along the same lines. That's a different thing.

NEEDLESS to say, the regular Republicans will spare no
effort, having been afflicted
far worse by Progressiveism than
it has troubled the Democrats, to make Wisconsin safe for regularity at the election of 1926.

With La Follette gone, they are
much more hopeful of Senator Lenroot's return to the upper house and hopes are expressed of
putting a regular in La Follette's
own seat.

They can't do this until November of next year, since the vacancy
will be filled temporarily by Governor Elaine's appointment, and,
as he is a Progressive himself, a Progressive will be his choice.

ONE remark by Senator Wheeler
may prove significant—that
"La Follette dead will be
more powerful even than La Fol-
lette alive."

This isn't impossible. His name
may become one to conjure by.

With his death, much of the bitterness which was felt toward
him living will disappear.

Idealized, it is quite likely there
will be immense strength for the
cause he preached in his memory, perhaps a strength greater than his own, a living man on the Senate floor.

Hot Weather Hints

A suit, dress or any other garment is so much cooler and more comfortable when it is clean and a suit looks so much neater and
more dressy when it has a good press in it.

Don't neglect these facts, for personal appearance counts much
and it must not be right just in cool weather and neglected in warm weather. To dress well and look nice, means the year 'round—not just at times.

BATESVILLE SHORTSTOP IS HERO OF THE GAME

Knocks Ball Over Fence for Home Run in Second Inning for Only Score in Game

CONTEST A PITCHER'S DUEL

Yesterday's hero in baseball, was Boehmer, shortstop for Batesville, who knocked the ball over the fence for a home run in the second inning against Rushville, and won the game for his team, by the score of 1 to 0.

The game was by far one of the best ever seen here, and the only thing that prevented extra innings was the fact that the shortstop had clouted the ball earlier in the game. After that, neither team could advance any further than second base. Each team played errorless ball.

The game was a pitcher's battle between Shaw of Rushville, who allowed only five hits, and Nieman for Batesville gave only three bingles. Shaw fanned 4, Nieman 5, and most of the putouts went to first base on infield rollers. Rushville will play Summitville next Sunday.

Score by innings:
Batesville 010 000 000—1-5-0
Rushville 000 000 000—0-3-0

AMUSEMENTS

"The Arizona Romeo"

Much interest attaches itself to "The Arizona Romeo," the William Fox star series picture which comes to the Castle Theatre today. For one thing it features the ever-popular, good looking Western star, Buck Jones who will be remembered for his excellent work in "The Man Who Played Square."

For the second part it allows the beautiful Lucy Fox to appear in a role which is ideal. Third, an excellent supporting cast consisting of Maine Geary, Thomas R. Mills, Hardee Kirkland, Marcella Daly, Lydia Yeagans, Harvey Clark, and Hank Mann has been provided.

Another outstanding feature of this production is the combination of comedy and thrills that crowd the action of the picture.

"The Arizona Romeo" was directed by Edmund Mortimer from his scenario prepared from an original story by Charles Kenyon.

Mae Marsh at Princess

More than a quarter of a million dollars were spent on the production of "Paddy-the-Next-Best-Thing," Mae Marsh's latest photoplay made in London and Ireland, in which she makes her formal return to the screen after an absence of two years, and which has been books as the feature attraction today and Tuesday at the Princess theatre under an Allie Producers and Distributors Corporation release.

In this film version of Gertrude Page's famous novel and stage play of the same title there are many exciting hunting, yacht racing and sporting scenes, as well as some notable studio settings which form, as it were, a wonderfully splendid background for a delightfully humorous and highly dramatic story.

One of the most ambitious of the latter examples is that of a scale reproduction of an Irish castle which was built at a cost of several thousand pounds at the Graham Wilcox studios in London. It was by far the biggest set ever built in any English studio. It had but three days of life; then it made way for a big hotel interior; a cottage set in the center of a delightful garden, and a physician's consulting room—all at once. Such is the scope of modern picture production.

"Catholics believe," he added, "that a good school comes before a good church because we realize that we can not have a good congregation unless we have a good school to teach children to become good men and women."

The speaker asserted that Christ would be welcome in any Catholic school because His word is taught there daily and children are made to feel His presence. He said Catholics did not believe that a half hour's lesson once a week in Sunday school was sufficient training for children along religious lines.

Father Alexander pointed out that non-Catholic friends said that Catholics were opposed to the public schools, but he asserted that this was far from the truth because Catholics submit to double taxation without murmuring, paying for their own schools as well as paying taxes to support the public schools.

He also pointed out that Catholics profit from the public schools by using some of their text books and using their methods in many instances. He also said that many sisters attended normal schools where public school teachers are trained.

"Some of our non-Catholic friends also say that we are not good Americans," he continued, "but I submit to you that no one appreciates free America with her liberty and freedom more than Catholics. We especially enjoy the freedom that America offers and guarantees because in some lands Catholics are persecuted because of their beliefs."

The speaker referred to the wiping out of the Oregon school law, which sought to abolish Catholic and all other parochial and private schools, as an example of American freedom of speech, thought and religious belief. He declared that the unanimous opinion of the members of the United States supreme court in declaring the law unconstitutional was evidence that America is still the land of the free.

Before the examination Saturday, it was stated that only two persons in the county were eligible for the appointment, Mrs. Farthing being one and Mrs. Edna Burdoffer of this city, who passed the test in May with a grade of 88. She is a republican, and is the daughter of Will Hardin, living in West Third street.

In case Mrs. Farthing resigns, the county school superintendent is required to make a recommendation for the appointment, and with the list appearing as three democrats and one republican, it is expected that a heated session will result, when the board meets to confirm the appointment.

In the confessions of the three, they implicated Sylvia Headlee of this county, the garage owner at Gowdy, and when it was searched, the Saunders car was found there, according to the officers.
The two Carthage men, in their confession, are said to have stated that Headlee gave them $50 to steal a Ford coupe, and deliver it to him at his garage, which they state resulted in the theft here of the Saunders machine.

A cancelled check for $50 is said to figure in the transaction, and Mr. Headlee is said to contend that the two Carthage boys brought the car to his garage and offered to sell it for $50, and that he made the payment requested by them.

Headlee was arraigned here and pleaded not guilty to the charge of conspiracy, and also not guilty to a charge of receiving stolen goods, and provided $2,500 bond on each case for his appearance in September, when the case will be set for trial.

What Comes After the "Flu"

Chiropractic Health Talk No. 216

By H. V. McCully, D. C., Ph. C.

Most of those who have survived a severe attack of the "flu," if usual methods were employed in effecting the "recovery" will testify that a train of ills very often follows in its wake. Under old-time methods almost anything can develop.

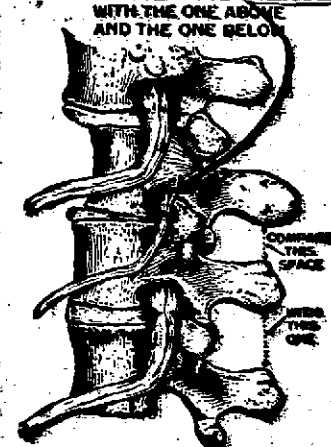

This is so because the "flu" is a condition due to decreased resistance power as a result of interference with nerves at the spinal column. Drugs employed to suppress symptoms do not correct the cause, but may drive the effects elsewhere.

The correct method of combatting the "flu" is to restore the flow of vital energy over the nerve lines to normal by removing the interference with those nerves. If Chiropractic is employed, the answer to "What comes after the 'flu'?" is "Health."

Recovers From "Flu" and Effects of Previous Attack

"I took sick with influenza on the night of April 5th. The medical doctor said I had irritation of bronchial tubes and lungs which could easily develop into pneumonia. I grew worse, and on April 9th we called a chiropractor. In less than three weeks I was able to walk about the house. Since I began taking adjustments I have taken no medicine, have felt no bad effects, and my return to strength has been rapid. I consider my recovery all the more remarkable because, according to several physicians, I have had endocarditis since suffering from influenza in 1918, and am now entirely relieved of same."—Mrs. James E. Fulton, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 2115-M.

Wear Necklace Down the Back

If you draw a V from shoulder line to waistline, and then scoop out the material inside the V you uncover quite an expanse of back. If this bothers you at all, follow the plan of Carmel Myers and wear one of the new back necklaces of diamonds and pearls—just like the pendant effects that were once worn down the front. It breaks up the dead white of the shoulders and offers some explanation for the cut of the frock. Really, it's a very smart thing to do these days.

Catholic school: Rev. Henry J. Doel, James Moran, and Joseph Boone of Vincennes, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Silvers and children Arthur, Gertrude and Calvin of Cincinnati, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Doll and children Robert, Margaret and Francis Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cress, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Doll, Alfred Greenwood, Miss Dorothy Renfro, Miss Clara Still of Indianapolis, Miss Celia Shontrupe, Earl York, James Moran, Maurice Shontrupe of Shelbyville, Mrs. William Myers and daughter Rosemund, and Bernard Rodutsky of Springfield, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson are at home to their friends at the home of the bride's parents, in North Arthur street. Mr. Clarkson is employed at the Reynolds Manufacturing Company.

The marriage of Miss Helen Elizabeth Mull to Sabert Denning Nelson took place at eight o'clock Saturday evening, June 27, with a beautiful ceremony at the home of the bride's parents near Homer. The service was read by the Rev. O. J. McMullen before an altar of ferns and tall baskets of white hydrangeas arranged in front of the fire place in the living room. The altar was lighted with fifteen white cathedral candles. Baskets of white sweetpeas, hydrangeas and ferns were used profusely to carry out the color scheme of green and white in the living room.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Ida Huppert of Indianapolis sang "Oh Promise Me," and "At Dawning." She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Hope Cooper of Indianapolis. For the entrance of the bridal party, Charles Shipman, harpist, played the wedding march from Lohegrin and during the ceremony, "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "For You Alone."

The bride was preceded to the altar by two bridesmaids, Miss Ruth Morris of Indianapolis, who wore a gown of light green taffeta, and Miss Audrey Williams of Jeffersonville, who wore light blue taffeta. They carried bouquets alike of Killarney roses and delphiniums and tied with long lavender ribbons. The bride was attended by Miss Lovene Barnett as maid of honor, who wore a charming dress of orchid, georgette trimmed with ostrich. She carried a shower bouquet of Columbia roses and delphiniums. Martha Hester Mull, niece of the bride, was flower girl and looked lovely in pale green georgette trimmed in lace ruffles. She carried a basket of pink roses with large pale green tulle bows on the handle.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white georgette over flat crepe and charmingly lace, beaded with crystal beads. She wore a veil of tulle held with a wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, lilies of the valley and pink sweet peas.

The wedding ceremony was followed by a reception for seventy guests. The table for the wedding party was arranged with cluny lace cloth, with a wedding cake, surrounded by pink and white sweet peas and crystal candle holders with pink and lavender candles, as a centerpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson left for a short motor trip, Mrs. Nelson's traveling costume being an almond green flannel sport ensemble with green velvet hat. On their return they will be at home to their friends on a farm west of Arlington.

Selected to Play Leading Feminine Role in Movie

production. At the Princess Theatre interior scenes will be made Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and nights before the audience, as an addition to the regular feature bill, and on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, during the day, the exterior scenes will be made. The movie men expect to have the "shooting" done by Thursday, and the picture will be screened as soon as possible.

The wreck scene, which will be made Thursday on a downtown street corner, will be one of the big features of the picture, according to the directors.

After looking over the city in quest of locations for backgrounds for exterior scenes Mr. Fetty declared that Rushville has a wealth of beautiful homes and the city should be proud of them. In addition to the number of scenes that will be made from the script of the story, a panoramic view will be made and this scene will be incorporated into the finished production.

Mr. Fetty is elated over the prospects of this picture and of the splendid co-operation of every one concerned in helping him and he gives assurance that when the picture is finally finished, it will be a huge success as everything is in his favor.

Director Fetty regards the east as exceptionally well suited to the parts they will fill and he expects the finished product to be one of the best he ever made.

Some of the exterior scenes will be made at Miss Reed's home, because of the beauty of the surroundings.

The Rushville Motor Sales company, of which Virgil Maffett is manager, will provide two new Chrysler automobiles for the wreck scene.

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY.

June 17-18, "This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased, hear ye him." As our Lord was being transfigured on the mountain, in the sight of the three disciples, these words were spoken by the Father out of Heaven. The greatest witness of all bears testimony as to the person and mission of Christ. No more weighty words were ever spoken. He is publicly acknowledged as "His Beloved Son." It is significant that twentieth century impiety calls his sonship in question. The Father declared himself as "well pleased" with the son and he commends him to men as counselor and teacher. Hear ye Him."

At the evening service the Daily Vacation Bible school gave its closing exercises. It consisted in songs, sung from memory, passages of scripture recited; map drills locating the places frequented by the boy Jesus; a cantata by the Juniors requiring twenty minutes to sing, and specimens of memory work done by the various groups. After the regular closing exercises of the school, saluting the Stars and Stripes, singing "America," saluting the Christian flag and singing "The Banner," then all stood with reverent attention and repeated the closing benediction.

The exhibits of manual work done by the pupils attracted much attention, and favorable comment by those who tarried after the close of the meeting.

First Baptist Church

In his sermon yesterday morning in the First Baptist church, the pastor, in an attack upon the steps recently taken, and widely advertised, by the Park Avenue Baptist Church, of New York in calling Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, said in part, "The recent call of Dr. Fosdick to the Park Avenue church is too significant to be overlooked by thoughtful Baptists anywhere. In calling Dr. Fosdick the church declared, at his suggestion, for inclusive membership. For at least three reasons this action is of unusual importance:

"First, because of Dr. Fosdick. As a preacher of unusual ability, he has probably influenced the student life of America as few other men of his day. What he has written has been read eagerly, as the sale of his books will testify, and likewise, he has been greeted with unusually large audiences everywhere.

"Second, because of Park Avenue church. Holding membership in this church, holding membership in this prominent people in America, including the Rockefellers and the Colgates. The action of such a church is of more than passing interest.

"Third, because of Dr. Fosdick and Park Avenue church have forsaken the historic Baptist position, and what we believe to be the clear teaching of the Scriptures, in declaring for inclusive church membership.

"Along with other great principles, our position on believers baptism has cost our Baptist forefathers untold pain and suffering. It is this question that today causes us to take issue with Dr. Fosdick.

"In his farewell sermon before the First Presbyterian church he gave his views on this question in these words: 'Why should things like baptism divide? If I had my way bap-

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Saturday broke all records for marriage licenses, when June licenses numbered six. Three of the licenses were announced Saturday, and the other three issued were to the following couples: Edward Phillips, a truck driver of this city, and Hazel Ridenbaugh, also of this city; Russell Aldridge, farmer and Gladys Fritts, glove maker, daughter of Louis Fritts of this city; Harold B. Clarkson, a sawyer of this city and Dorothy V. Whitaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Whitaker of this city.

tism would be an individual affair. Anyone who wanted to be immersed, I would gladly immerse. Anyone who wanted to be sprinkled, I would gladly sprinkle. If anybody had conscientious scruples against any ritual, I would gladly without baptism welcome him on confession of his faith. Why not?

"Our answer is simple. We prefer loyalty to the Lordship of Jesus rather than to the personal opinion of Dr. Fosdick. The teaching of Jesus concerning baptism is clear. And as Baptists, we hold that no man, be he Pope, bishop, priest or minister has a right to alter the plain teaching of Christ. So long, therefore, as the command remains on the Divine statute book we shall continue to obey it. We do not question either the motive or the intelligence of Dr. Fosdick. But we do question his authority to alter the command of Christ. I am sure, my brethren, that you support me when I say that the First Baptist church of Rushville will still maintain its present well known position."

ALL WORN OUT

So Was Mrs. Sutton Who Tells Her Experience

Are you tired all the time; worn-out night and day? Does your back ache as if it would break? Do you suffer dizziness, headaches, rheumatic twinges or distressing urinary disorders? You have good cause, then, to be alarmed about your kidneys. Do as many of your townfolk recommend. Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. This Rushville case is convincing.
